

Partnership Declaration

supporting the European Code Against Cancer, 5th Edition (ECAC5)

We, the undersigned, express our support for the European Code Against Cancer, 5th Edition (ECAC5), recognising it as an essential tool for cancer prevention and health promotion.

In the spirit of cooperation and in pursuit of public health benefits, we commit to:

- Promoting ECAC5 within our networks, communication channels, and activities, tailored to diverse target audiences;
- Supporting education and awareness-raising initiatives that communicate the robust scientific evidence underpinning ECAC5, working to challenge and correct misinformation whenever it emerges;
- Contributing towards innovative and locally adapted approaches, where feasible and appropriate, to encourage the uptake of ECAC5 recommendations;
- Using ECAC5 to foster cross-sectoral and multidisciplinary collaboration with relevant stakeholders for shared public health gains.

This declaration reflects the signatories' independent commitment to support the dissemination of ECAC5 in alignment with public health objectives and the goals of Europe's Beating Cancer Plan. The signatories encourage all other interested organisations to join in this effort.

By signing this Declaration, we confirm that our organization is not a commercial entity and that we authorise the International Agency for Research on Cancer/World Health Organization (IARC/WHO) to add our logo and official title to the Declaration solely for the purpose of acknowledging our support for the dissemination of ECAC5. We acknowledge that this use does not imply endorsement by IARC/WHO. We will provide a high-resolution logo for this purpose and understand that this Declaration will be made available on the ECAC5 website. We acknowledge that we may withdraw authorization to use our logo in writing at any time.

Organizations with commercial affiliations may be subject to additional review in accordance with WHO's Framework of Engagement with Non-State Actors (FENSA).
